Professional Consulting

As Canada’s first heritage consultant (1975-84), a founding principal of Commonwealth Historic Resource Management Limited (1984-2010), and in sole practice since 2010, Kalman has managed or participated in more than one thousand professional consulting projects in Canada, the U.S., Asia, the Caribbean, and South America. Many of these projects have resulted in significant reports, some of book length. The reports from these projects, and an index to them, have been deposited with the City of Vancouver Archives. Kalman withdrew from consulting practice in 2010 and now focusses on writing, teaching, and heritage advocacy.
